AND THE SURROUNDING AREA WAS
ONCE A MAJOR SUPPLIER OF TIMBER
TO THE EARLY SYDNEY COLONY

The first sawmill was established in the area in 1805 and West Pymble was selectively logged for the most sought after timbers. The attraction of the impressive stands of blackbutt, turpentine, stringybark, ironbark, blue gum and mahogany saw the upper north shore become an important supplier of timber throughout all of Sydney in the years to come.
